Transference of senate post to be debated

Nancy Bridges and Linda Wagner

The Student Senate will hold a special meeting Tuesday to discuss the proposed elimination of Eastern's administrative assistant for collective bargaining along with other recommended constitutional revisions.

Student Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said the constitution revision committee proposed to transfer the collective bargaining duties to the executive vice president.

Wesel noted that the elimination of this position could "save students tuition money" of about $500.

Wesel added that it seemed like the originators of the post were "trying to pad the position to make it look prestigious."

However, Wesel noted that the committee eliminated five of the duties and condensed the remaining into three which will be handled by the executive vice president.

These duties include serving in the capacity of collective bargaining representative as defined by the board of Governors, authoring oral and written reports to the senate and functioning in this capacity from the first day of negotiations to one month following negotiation completion.

Wesel said he recommended the special meeting because constitutional revisions are "extremely major stuff."

The special senate meeting will only include debate of the recommended constitutional revisions, eliminating the time needed for various reports that are required at regular senate meetings.

The Student Senate will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon room.

School prayer

Court may allow silence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, while adhering to its 12-year ban on officially sponsored school prayers, said Monday it will consider letting public schools provide a daily "moment of silence" for students.

The justices said they will study an Alabama law that allowed periods of silence at the start of each school day for student meditation or prayer.

The law was struck down as unconstitutional by a federal appeals court that said the legislation's main purpose was promoting religion.

At the same time Monday, the justices agreed with the appeals court that a separate Alabama law that allowed public school teachers to lead willing students in prayer is unconstitutional.

The high court, showing no intention of reconsidering its 1962 decision outlawing officially sponsored prayer sessions in public schools, is limiting its review to the "moment of silence" law.

Similar laws have been enacted in 22 other states. They are Arizona, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee and Virginia.

Lower courts have struck down the New Jersey, New Mexico and Tennessee laws. But the Massachusetts law was upheld by a three-judge federal court in 1976.

The Reagan administration is urging the high court to allow states to provide brief, daily periods of silence for "prayer or meditation" in public schools.

Government lawyers said such measures pose no threat of establishing an official religion, but merely represent an "accommodation of and toleration for private religious beliefs and practices."

Minister warns reporters

CHICAGO (AP)—Minister Louis Farrakhan, leader of the Nation of Islam, is vowing to "make an example" of a Washington Post reporter in an attempt to force other blacks covering the Rev. Jesse Jackson's presidential campaign to be less critical of the candidate.

"At this point, no physical harm," Farrakhan said of his plans for Milton Coleman, the black Washington Post reporter who first disclosed that Jackson had referred to Jews as "Hymies" and to New York as "Hymietown".

"We're going to keep on going until we make it so that he cannot enter in among black people," Farrakhan said in a radio address that was broadcast nationally.

Referring to black journalists in general, Farrakhan said, "Don't tell me nothing about you're a reporter. You're a nigger in the eyes of white people...You are just a pure chump operative of those that write your stories for you to put under your byline.

"You're the only fool there is; white people have a point of view and they write out of their philosophical perspective," he continued. "You come with your prostituting self; you're going to be better than anybody else... Such a damn fool like you should be taken and horeswhipped."

But he reserved the strongest language in last month's address for the Post reporter.

"We're going to make an example of Milton Coleman," he said.

Coleman said Monday, "I really don't have any comment at this point" on Farrakhan's remarks.

In an earlier interview with the Chicago Tribune, Coleman said he had no regrets about making Jackson's slurs public. He did express reservations, however, about the way that the incident was reported.

"One of the things that disturbs me is that every time something happens involving black people as principals, then suddenly the question of race comes up in a way that throws a cloud over the heads of all blacks," he said.

"In some respects, one could argue that the only racial aspect of this is whether or not the terms he (Jackson) used are racially demeaning," added Coleman.

Farrakhan was not at the Nation of Islam's Chicago headquarters Friday and was not expected to be in town for the week, said a woman today who identified herself as Sister Lesil. She declined to say where he is.

Vrdolyak wins Democratic chair

CHICAGO—Edward R. Vrdolyak beat back a challenge from Mayor Harold Washington and a host of the mayor's vocal supporters to win a second term as chairman of the Cook County Democratic Party during a stormy and sometimes bitter session Monday.

"I am proud to accept. I wanted it. I wanted it from the first day I got into politics," Vrdolyak said in his acceptance speech after defeating 4th Ward Alderman Timothy Evans, who was slated by Washington's supporters.

"And unless we go together, we will be going no place," he continued. "Everybody want the same things for their family and themselves."

The final tally put to rest months of speculation that Washington, who has fought the party's Old Guard relentlessly since his election as Chicago's first black mayor last year, would succeed in his bid to replace Vrdolyak at the head of the local Democratic organization.

Gaye's death mourned by fans

LOS ANGELES—Marvin Gaye's soulful music filled the air as fans gathered Monday to mourn his death, and a detective said, "We may never know" the depth of the conflict between the singer and his father, who is accused of his murder.

Gaye, whose smooth and sexy style dominated Motown records during the 1960s with such hits as "I Heard It Through The Grapevine" was killed by two bullets in the chest Sunday, the eve of his 45th birthday.

Candidates battle for New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson toured New York on Monday in a frantic, final day of campaigning for the state Democratic presidential primary—the biggest prize so far in the "red-hot" race for the party's nomination.

Mondale, the leader in the polls, visited several upstate cities, where he appealed for support on the basis of a "lifetime of public service...I'm not a guess-what candidate who just shows up and asks for your votes," he said in an obvious, though unnamed reference to Hart.

Hart, also campaigning upstate, counter-attacked on "special interests" and campaign contributions. "We cannot elect a president to reform the campaign finance laws of this nation who goes into office beholden to those special interest groups who have financed his campaign on that basis," he said.

Mondale takes no campaign contributions from political action committees, but there are dozens of independent committees set up around the country that are supporting the former vice president and accepting thousands of dollars from political action committees.

Jackson, hoping for a strong turnout among black and Hispanic voters in New York City, campaigned in Harlem and Brooklyn.

"We will clean the garbage off our streets," he said. "We will take the handguns off the streets."

Jackson finished third in the public opinion polls, but he has been predicting, "We'll win."

All three contenders put in exhausting days—an effort justified by the big prize of delegates at stake in Tuesday's statewide primary election.

The 252 delegates are the biggest single-state cache so far in the election calendar. Only the California primary on June 5 will award more.

Guerrillas rampage Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP)—Three Arab gunmen rampaged down a busy Jerusalem street Monday, firing automatic weapons and hurling hand grenades in a 10-minute terror spree that wounded 48 people, police said. They said bystanders shot and killed one attacker, and officers captured the other two.

Police and hospital officials said one victim was in critical condition and another was seriously wounded, but most other injuries were minor.

The Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a hard-line member of the Palestinian Liberation Organization, claimed responsibility for the attack in communiques from Damascus, Syria.

The attackers ran down King George Street in the city's commercial heart, throwing four hand grenades, firing a submachine gun and attacking at least one bus, according to witnesses and the police.

The attack spread fear throughout the city. A small crowd near the scene attacked a group of Arab construction workers. Police said they were flooded with reports of terrorists and bombs, but none were found.

Democratic chairman

Connelly resigns from county post

by Sheila Billerbeck

Because of the responsibilities involved with being a state committeeman, Eastern political science instructor Joe Connelly resigned Monday as Coles County Democrats chairman.

"My duties as state central committeeman will prevent me from adequately performing the duties" of chairman, Connelly said in a letter to fellow Democrats earlier.

"It is difficult to do both," he said.

Connelly has been involved as chairman and vice chairman of the county party since 1962, except for a period from March to October in 1976.

As state committeeman for the past two years, Connelly is one of the 22 persons on the state committee and he represents the 19th Congressional District.

"My responsibility is to work with 18 counties and represent them," Connelly said.

Serving for 22 years as county Democratic chairman, Connelly said his position involved organizing Coles County politically and seeking candidates to participate in elections.

As chairman, Connelly said his experience with Eastern's Young Democrats has been "gratifying."

"I know of many Eastern students who have gotten jobs in Springfield" by being associated with political organizations, he said.

Connelly said he also believes the Democratic party has become very competitive in Coles County.

"A lot of Democrats have been elected to positions," he said.

Connelly's successor was to be chosen Monday night at the Democratic County Convention which normally elects the chairman after every primary.

UB representatives will attend convention to begin negotiations for prospective acts

by Justin Greene

The University Board Tuesday will select representatives for the National Association of Campus Activities mini-convention, Chairman Floyd Akins said.

Akins said the convention allows university programming coordinators to see various types of entertainment available for hire for universities.

After judging the entertainment on possible student interest, Eastern's representatives will begin negotiations to hire the acts, he said.

Akins said that either five or six UB coordinators will attend the convention. However, the exact number is currently undecided.

The convention, scheduled for April 13-15, is being hosted by Southern Illinois University-Carbondale. Other area schools that will be represented at the convention include Illinois State University, Indiana State University, and Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

In other business, the board will review upcoming events for the fall semester and the present ticket policy for UB events.

In addition, Akins said that UB programmers for the summer session are currently being sought for the human potential, production and the graphic arts committees.

The meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. on Tuesday in the Union addition Casey room.

Searching for input and a VPAA

Opportunity seldom knocks twice, and when it makes a second call, it's usually beneficial to take advantage of it.

The opportunity to participate in the selection process of a top Eastern administrator has presented itself again and Eastern students should not pass up the opportunity to let their opinions be heard.

One key Eastern administrator is the vice president for academic affairs and the search to name a replacement for former VPAA Stanley Rives, who was named president in October, is entering the final stages. The field of applicants has been narrowed to five well-qualified candidates and they are scheduled to begin interviews with campus groups April 8.

Some students took advantage of last semester's search for Eastern's new president by attending campus interviews. They were able to meet with each candidate, ask questions, analyze each candidate's qualifications and submit an evaluation to the campus search committee. Those students who took the time to participate exercised the right of stating who they thought should be Eastern's next president.

Student input was welcome during the search and should have been offered. After all, we students fork over about $1,200 for tuition and fees each year. We have a vested interest, both financially and academically, in Eastern and we ought to be interested in the capabilities of the administrators who help run the university.

In the current search for an academic vice president, the candidates, who are James F. Adams, Daniel A. Felicetti, Jane W. Loeb, Warren Smith and Stephen Weber, will meet with all interested students during their visits to campus. Students should take advantage of this opportunity to provide input during the selection process because of the position's importance.

Eastern's vice president for academic affairs oversees the university's entire academic program and acts as chief academic officer. He or she also is responsible for the recruitment, development and retention of Eastern's faculty and serves as the university's representative in collective bargaining matters. The VPAA also serves as provost, assuming the role of president in the top administrator's absence.

Students ought to be concerned about who is chosen to dictate the direction of Eastern's academic programs and we encourage them to speak their minds about the vice presidential candidates via an evaluation form.

As some students did take advantage of this right last semester, we hope as many students, if not more, will take advantage of this opportunity in the next few weeks.

Spring to bring healthy bodies to better shape

Although it might be hard to believe, spring is here, and with it comes the resurgence of interest in physical appearances. Are those favorite shorts going to fit? Can I possibly wear my swimsuit in public?

Dieting becomes a popular obsession, one which often leads us to adopt unhealthy eating patterns. Also, we frequently ignore the crucial contribution of exercise to weight loss, physical appearance or good health.

Maybe this spring it's time to take a wellness perspective to an examination of our eating and exercising habits.

Where do we begin? A thorough physical examination might be a good place to start. The physical examination will provide information about your general state of health as well as your present level of physical fitness. This information can be helpful in determining whether you want to make changes. If changes in activity seem warranted, your physical might suggest what type of and how much exercise would be appropriate for you.

Similarly, a nutritional analyst could examine your current eating patterns and provide suggestions for losing or maintaining weight through a balanced, healthy diet.

We "let ourselves" gain weight or get out of shape for a variety of reasons. Some of us might lack information about our nutritional requirements or fall into bad habits. Some of us eat for emotional reasons—like boredom, anxiety, depression or anger.

Often, we fail to exercise for the same reasons. We might be afraid of what might happen (or fail to happen) if we reach that ideal weight or shape we've dreamed about. We might even have lost weight only to discover we gain it right back (and then some!) when returning to regular eating habits.

The point in all of this is that we need to develop habits that work for ourselves as individuals and allow us to accept ourselves for who and what we are. What works for someone else might never work for you. The trick lies in developing your own unique style, a style you can live with.

If you decide to lose weight after getting a physical examination and a nutritional analysis, allow yourself time. Crash diets usually depend on a loss of water or lean muscle mass for rapid weight loss, which actually can interfere with your ability to lose fat. Plan on losing only one or two pounds a week—and plan to keep them off!

Find an exercise plan that is fun and easy for you to do several times each week. Regular exercise not only aids in weight loss and physical fitness but also provides a welcome release from the stresses of everyday life.

Even if you don't choose to lose weight, learn to take care of yourself by eating well and gradually getting into shape. A healthy mind deserves a healthy body. Why not try for both.

—The Daily Vidette is the student newspaper of Illinois State University.

Welcome to readers from new editor

The stories don't seem different. The pictures look the same. The pages look much like they always do. So what's the big deal?

What may not seem like a big deal to most of the Eastern community is a big deal to a group of crazy journalists who spend their free time punching futuristic typewriters in Buzard North Gym.

The big deal is the takeover of a new editorial staff of The Daily Eastern News. You are now holding the final product of the new staff's second effort.

Some News readers probably think: Who cares about a new staff? But even if you don't care, they are the ones who will control the quality and content of what you read in your campus paper.

Most of the editors are journalistically seasoned, so they really aren't that new. "So what's new?" you may ask. The new aspect of the staff is that old editors and associate editors are now in charge of new staffs and have new responsibilities, new reporters and new sources to work with.

All of this newness will take a little time for those of us who live within the confines of the north gym, but it should not affect the comprehensive coverage of campus and the outside world.

As matter of fact, we at the News try to ensure that the quality of the newspaper remains consistent by changing staffs after the spring break. This change after the break is helpful because it allows old editors to guide new ones through the newness before May commencement.

News notes:

Madeleine Doubek

Consistent quality is the key challenge for this editorial staff. And because most of the editors chosen are not only experienced, but are also upperclassmen who are used to juggling journalistic and academic responsibilities, that goal is obtainable.

In the next few weeks, this staff and their fearful leader will make strides toward that goal and the one of continuing to be one of the top college daily newspapers in the country.

But our ultimate goal is to serve our readers and provide them with the news they need and want. So, please feel free to let us know when you think we might be falling short of those goals and celebrate with us when we do conquer them.

—Madeleine Doubek is editor in chief of The Daily Eastern News.

Salaries to be discussed

The Faculty Senate Tuesday will discuss responses the senate has received concerning a position paper addressing Eastern's underfunded faculty salaries.

Faculty Senate Chairman Richard Goodrick said the paper was sent to state legislators; the Board of Governors, Eastern's controlling board; and the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The cover letter states that, "Eastern is underfunded and has been for more than a decade."

The paper recommends a series of one-percent increases along with any additional BOG increases to allow Eastern's faculty salaries to catch up to those of other BOG schools.

In addition, the letter cites that Eastern's faculty salaries have risen 56.7 percent, while consumer price index has climbed 138 percent since Fiscal Year 1971.

In other business, Goodrick said the senate is expected to approve the results of the recent faculty elections. In addition, the senate will set a date for the retirement tea.

The Faculty Senate is scheduled to meet at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Martinsville room.

Area upgrading to be reviewed

The Charleston City Council will discuss public improvements in four Charleston neighborhoods at its regular meeting Tuesday.

The neighborhoods under consideration include Heritage Woods, Clayton-DeRousse, Nielson and Garfield Addition.

Wayne Lanman, Streets and Public Improvements Commissioner, said Monday the work on the neighborhoods will include street and sidewalk repair and other general improvements.

Also on the agenda is a bid review for water distribution parts, and the final approval of bids for new city uniforms and chemicals for water treatment.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Council Chambers.

Seven cookie mishaps reported

CHICAGO (AP)—A 14-year-old boy discovered a 1-inch straight pin in a Girl Scout cookie, bringing the number of tampering incidents reported in the Chicago area to seven, police said Monday.

Authorities said the straight pin was found in a "Thin Mint" cookie Sunday by Tim Casey. The remaining cookies in the box were picked up by police, along with an unopened box, for examination at the crime laboratory.

Meanwhile, McHenry County Sheriff Henry Nulle said a 7-year-old girl found a metal object in a Girl Scout cookie and the box was turned into police Sunday.

All reports of tamperings were being turned over to the FBI, Nulle said, adding that the cookies didn't appear to have been tampered with locally.

On Friday, the South Cook County Girl Scout Council stopped the distribution of its cookies in 50 suburbs after needles and glass were found in cookies in suburban Calumet Park and Blue Island.

Lector to stress hope for future

by Douglas Backstrom

A lecture, stressing the idea that people must begin to have more concern and compassion for one another or their lives will be disrupted by a war, will be presented Wednesday.

Charles Switzer, Eastern's summer school director said the lecture will be presented by George Schweitzer, a distinguished alumni professor of chemistry at the University of Tennessee.

The lecture titled, "Can We Hope For a Year 2000?" will focus on the "structure of hope in the future," he said.

Schweitzer has lectured at more than 450 universities and written more than 130 research articles on various topics such as chemistry, genealogy, science, religion and philosophy, Switzer said.

In addition, he noted that Schweitzer has a doctorate in philosophy from New York University and a doctorate in chemistry from Columbia University. Schweitzer also received his master's degree in religion from Columbia.

Schweitzer, who spoke at Eastern in 1981 and 1983, will deliver the first in a series of lectures for the "Toward 2000" Inaugural Symposium.

The series, which will run through April, is being presented instead of traditional inaugural festivities for Eastern President Stanley Rives, Switzer said.

The lecture is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Booth Library Lecture Room.

Hoyas capture NCAA crown; Houston second, again

SEATTLE (AP)—Georgetown's depth paid off in its first NCAA basketball championship Monday night as freshman reserves Reggie Williams and Michael Graham led the way in an 84-75 victory over Houston.

The dream match-up between the two 7-foot All-Americans, Georgetown's Patrick Ewing and Houston's Akeem Olajuwon, was never a key. Both were in foul trouble much of the game and played cautiously.

It marked the second straight time Coach Guy Lewis' Cougars lost the championship game, having been upset by North Carolina State 54-52 last year. Houston also reached the Final Four in 1967, 1968 and 1981.

Georgetown coach, John Thompson, and his players embraced joyfully as the final seconds ticked off, the memories of a runner-up finish to North Carolina in the 1982 final wiped away.

On Houston's bench, Olajuwon and his Cougar teammates sobbed as time ran out.

Williams, a slender 6-7 swing-man, scored 13 of his 19 points in the second half and Graham, a burly 6-9 forward, got 10 of his 14 points in the second half. The freshman combined for 11 of Georgetown's 15 field goals after intermission.

Georgetown had three other players in double figures, led by David Wingate with 16 points. Most of his eight second-half points came on free throws down the stretch. Michael Jackson had 11 points and Ewing added 10.

Sophomore guard Alvin Franklin, who kept Houston in the game after intermission, was the top scorer with 21 points, followed by Michael Young with 18 and Olajuwon with 15.

In winning their 11th straight game and 21st of the last 22, the second-ranked Hoyas culminated the rebuilding program that Thompson began when he took over a 3-23 club in 1972. The former backup center for the Boston Celtics has been criticized for some of his tactics on and off the court, but he said after the championship victory "the bottom line is that my kids graduate."

"I don't have a problem with people criticizing us," he said. "I'm not concerned with my critics."

"I'm elated about winning the championship," Thompson continued, "but the hardest thing is to get here."

Magee sets his sights on L.A.

by Tim Lee

When the Olympic flag is unfurled this summer in Los Angeles, Eastern sprinter Claude Magee could very well be representing the United States as a 100-meter sprinter on the track squad.

Magee, who earned a chance to tryout for the team after clocking a time of 10:21 Saturday at the Florida Relays, will get his shot when tryouts are held later this spring.

the Olympics until my sophomore year when I ran a 10.25."

But Magee added that although his record-breaking time of 10.21 was good for this early in the season, he is expecting to cut it down even lower.

"I can cut my time to below 10.10 which is what it will probably need to be to make the Olympic team," Magee said. "I would like to get down to 10.07. I don't know why that figure—call it superstition or whatever. I just pulled it out of the hat."

Magee, a former Florida state champion in the 100, also qualified for the NCAA Track and Field Championships with his outstanding run. In addition, he will be aiming to qualify for the championships in the 200-meter dash.

Magee was an NCAA qualifier last season in the 100 after being out for two months with an injury. He finished fourth in his heat but didn't qualify for the finals.

This year, the junior standout is gunning for the top eight, which would give him All-America status, something that wouldn't be new to him. He gained All-America honors his freshman year in the 100 and the 4 x 100 relay.

But of all the awards, Magee said he considers his national ranking as the 16th best 100-meter sprinter by the The Track and Field News as his finest.

In addition, he has been honored as the Association of Mid-Continent Universities' "Athlete of the Year."

But the honor wasn't new to Magee either, who was also "athlete of the year" as a senior at Clearmont High School in Clearmont, Fla.

Besides being the state champ in the 100, Magee also finished second in the long jump and third in the 200 at the state meet his senior year.

"I have been running seriously since my sophomore year in high school," Magee said. "Before that, I played baseball."

As to the future, Magee said he hasn't concerned himself with that right now—rather, he'll be concentrating on the remainder of this season.

"I wasn't planning on running after graduation, but what I do then depends on how well my legs hold up," Magee added.

Home opener

Panthers split with Ball State

by Mike Nelson

Eastern's softball team split a doubleheader Monday against Ball State University at Lantz Field. The Panthers dropped their home opener 5-3, but came from behind in the second game to win 3-2.

In the Panthers' first game, Eastern scored two runs in the fourth inning to break a 1-1 tie. Despite Eastern's rally, Ball State came roaring back with four runs in the sixth inning to reclaim the lead and eventually the game. Shelly Eddington took the loss for Eastern, while Lori Weber captured the win for the Cardinals.

"We just weren't able to put it together in the first game," Eastern head coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said. "We didn't take advantage of their errors and make use of the runners we had on base."

Kathy Range led Eastern offensively with two runs scored and two hits in three at-bats.

In the second game, Ball State jumped out to an early lead by scoring single runs in the second and third innings. The Panthers narrowed the lead to 2-1 in the fourth inning when senior standout Mary Tiegs, who had tripled to center field, scored on sophomore Tammi Rettig's sacrifice fly.

Junior Lori Conine led off the winning rally with a single in the fifth inning. Range followed with a grounder to third, but the ball was errantly thrown to first and the runners advanced to second and third. Senior outfielder Fran Stalter made the most of the opportunity and hit a single which scored both Conine and Range. Eastern, behind Donna Ridgway's relief help, held off the Cardinals to win 3-2.

"We got some key hits when we needed them in the second game," D'Abbraccio said. "We just didn't give up when we fell behind. We did a good job of coming back."

Sandy Muskopf took the win for the Panthers after Ridgway relieved in the sixth inning and retired the Cardinals in order in the seventh.

"Donna pitched well in relief in both games," D'Abbraccio said. "She came in and got the outs we needed."

Eastern pitcher Shelly Eddington fires a pitch for the Panthers in the first game of Monday's double header against Ball State at Lantz Field. Eddington gave up five runs in 6 1/3 innings pitched. (News photo by Brian Ormiston)

Sluggers host IUPUI in home opener

by Jeff Long

After four consecutive rainouts at home earlier this season, Eastern's baseball team will attempt to open its home schedule Tuesday when it hosts Indiana University-Purdue University of Indianapolis 1 p.m. at Monier Field.

Although Tuesday's weather forecast called for less than favorable conditions for baseball, Panther head coach Tom McDevitt said the playing field is in "excellent condition" thanks to Eastern's field crew.

The Panthers, 4-5, are coming off an eight-day southern trip in which they played in three different states. But McDevitt said Eastern's home field advantage will not be that much of an edge for his squad.

"We'd much prefer to play at home, but it really doesn't make that much difference," he said. "Two years ago we were 29-12 with only seven games at home, and we were 3-4 in those."

One thing the Panthers will be looking to improve on is their defense, which was suspect on the road trip.

"We won't beat any good ball clubs without defense," McDevitt said. "A lot of the guys are young and are going to make mistakes, but we need to play properly. We're making too many little mistakes."

McDevitt has named righthander Mick Freed to start the first game against the Metros. Righty Dave Goodhue will be on the mound for the nightcap.
